Excerpt: . the infernal regions; because they clearly perceived that, if a belief in these future punishments were taken away, death itself would not be greatly dreaded.--Cicero. P. 225, l. 9.--In the community itself there are grades of duties, from which may be learned what obligation a man has to discharge to every one; that the first duties are owing to the immortal gods, the second to one's native country, the third to parents, and so on to others in their order.--Cicero. P. 226, l. 20.--That neglect of the gods, which is prevalent in this age, had not then arisen, nor was any one at that time in the habit of wresting the laws to his own purpose by putting his private interpretation on an oath, but rather adapted his practice to them.--Livy. P. 226, l. 28.--See above, vol. i. p. 302, n., c....
