But he also lampooned him because He tells us when the sun will rise, Points out fair days, or clouded skies;--No matter if he sometimes lies. That the almanac-maker was not always responsible for the whole contents of his publication, is determined in Sherman s case by a very droll experience. He had prepared two almanacs for the year 1750, one for Boston and another for New York. In his haste to get off the copy to Henry DeForeest, the printer of the latter, he was obliged to send it incomplete, but gave the printer latitude to put in whatsoever else he should think proper. But the Dutch printer of New York had different standards of taste than the Puritan author of Connecticut. He inserted the following naive Observations on the months and quarters of the year, to which Sherman objected, as we shall...
